The catch was taken during a week of fishing, says Sergei Ankipov who is chairman of the board of the company Sea & Coast AS, which is behind the Latvian trawler, which is now rigged for pot fishing. Between 18 and 24 men are on board the trawler while fishing.

This is the second delivery they have. The first delivered on August 1st.

- This time we have delivered about 32-33 tons of live snow crab, he says.

The catch has been delivered to Norway Seafood's facility in Kjøllefjord, but Ankipov also says that other factories have shown interest in receiving raw materials from "Solvita".

The trawler is equipped with a tank on board, in which cold water is pumped from the seabed where they catch. The seawater is then recycled in the tank.

- This keeps the crabs cool and alive until we get the catches delivered, he says and can point to crabs of good quality.

Ankipov is in the process of establishing its own reception for snow crabs in Båtsfjord, Ishavsbruket. The company is expected to be completed in two to three months. Until then, they will deliver to other companies

- We look forward to working well with both Norway Seafoods in Kjøllefjord and other factories, says Ankipov.
