Introduction

The Norwegian Mapping Authority (Kartverket) has calculated the extent of the area known as the Loop Hole (Smutthullet) in the Barents Sea. The continental shelf in the Loop Hole is divided in two parts, a western part called the Norwegian part and an eastern part called the Russian part, as shown on the map in figure 1.

Figur 1 The Loop Hole (Smutthullet)

The areas have been calculated using an in-house developed program called GEOD. The program has FORTRAN code and the actual subroutine's name is AREA. The areas calculated are ellipsoidal and refer to the GRS80-ellipsoid. The precision is 1 km².

The Norwegian part

Three lines enclose this area: 1) the 200 nautical miles off Norway (Svalbard); 2) the 200 nautical miles off Norway (mainland); and 3) the limit of the Continental Shelf of Norway as defined in the Treaty between Norway and the Russian Federation of 15 September 2010 Concerning Maritime Delimitation and Cooperation in the Barents Sea and the Arctic Ocean. All the coordinates defining the lines are listed in attachment 1.

The size of the calculated area is:

8 454 km² or 10.81 % of the total area.

The Russian part

Two lines enclose the Russian area in the Loop Hole: 1) The Agreed Delimitation Line between Norway and Russia; and 2) 200 nm boundaries. Calculations here are based on the coordinates submitted in the Russian notification to the North East Atlantic Fisheries Commission (NEAFC) in 2014, see attachment 2 and 3. The calculation is subject to any typographical errors and any subsequent corrections that Russia may have made to its coordinates. In attachment 2 all the points defining the lines are listed as WGS84 coordinates, decimal degrees.

The size of the calculated area is: 69 766 km² or 89.19 % of the total area.

In total the area of the Loop Hole is: 8 454 km² + 69 766 km² = 78 220 km²
